

Ports & Excursions

Alotau, Papua New Guinea

Welcome to an undiscovered paradise of white-sand beaches, crystal waterfalls and volcanic mountains. And if you've come for history, you'll find that, too. This peaceful town was the site of fierce fighting during World War II. Today, it's a peaceful retreat offering the vacationer plenty of time to relax and connect with nature. Beyond the city you'll find a tropical rainforest full of birds of paradise and a laid-back ease worth discovering.

Points of Interest

1 Wahuhuba Historical Site

It was here on August 24, 1942 that the main Japanese invasion force, escorted by two light cruisers, three destroyers, and two submarine chasers, entered Milne Bay's waters and began the Battle of Milne Bay.

2 Alotau Cultural Festival

Nestled against a backdrop of blue green mountains, this quiet seaside town with its peaceful and hospitable people, comes to life with an explosion of colour, vibrant chanting, dancing and kundu drum beats carrying the stories of an ancient race to the seafront venue of Wanigili Centre. The Alotau Cultural Festival experience is an event not to be missed.

3 Alotau War Memorial

A somber reminder of the Battle of Milne Bay. The detailed description of the battle on the memorial includes the number of embattled troops and Papua New Guineans who were wounded or lost their lives.

4 Cameron Secondary School

The province's first established high school.

5 Toptown Lookout

Offers panoramic views of the bay.

6 Turnbull War Memorial

Original No.3 airstrip during WWII and its memorial to Australia's Squadron Leader, Peter St George Turnbull, who was killed during the Battle of Milne Bay.

7 KB Mission

Scene of fierce fighting between Japanese and Australian troops.

8 Town Market

Local market place selling fresh fruit, fish and local products
